Board of Control Approves $17,550 Athletic Budget

A budget calling for $17,550 for 1952-53 was submitted to the Board of Control for its approval last week by the Board of Athletic Control. The budget request, which was passed by the board after an hour of discussion, represents 37½ per cent of the expected $46,800 annual income of the Associated Students from the universal card fee.

Five per cent of the allocation will go directly into a new contingency fund which has been created to meet emergencies. The fund will be built up to $5,000 by whatever money remains from gate receipts after expenses have been paid.

Following this new plan, which aims at providing a reliable source of funds to cover unexpected trips by athletic teams and for the purchase of replacement equipment, etc., if the fund reaches $5,000 any other money which would automatically go into the fund from gate receipts will be transferred to the general fund of the Associated Students.

According to Dean John Bergstresser, the $5000 amount should eventually become a "rock bottom" figure for the contingency fund. In the past, it has always been a problem to raise transportation costs if any of the the teams have been invited to play unexpected games at distant schools. The new fund hopes to eliminate this problem and others which arise. The contingency fund must now cover any and all emergencies. Only major change made in the budget as presented by the Board of Athletic Control came following a motion by Maurice Besse that any withdrawals from the contingency fund must be approved by the Board of Control. Originally, the board was to have no control over the spending of the money; the only O.K. necessary would have been that of the Athletic Board of Control.

The final section of the budget, concerning the maintenance of an athletic training table, will go before the board for approval at the regular weekly meeting of the group tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Hut 4B.

Music Fed. Party Tonight

The Music Federation is presenting a roller skating party Wednesday, February 20, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. at Rollerland in Oakland. Non-members are invited to participate for an admission charge of 75 cents; members will be charged 50 cents.

A car pool to Oakland is being organized in Music Alley. A sign-up sheet will remain posted until 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Skates will be included in the admission price.

Positions Open For Eight Yell Leaders

Any students interested in becoming yell leaders next semester should sign up in Hut 4A before Monday, February 25. Positions open include, for men, the posts of head yell leader and assistants. Girls are needed as song leaders. Previous experience is desirable but not necessary, and everyone interested is urged to sign up. Tryouts will be held on March 4.

Deferment Exam Applications Due Monday, March 10

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1952 should file their applications at once for the April 24 administration, the Selective Service Headquarters announced recently.

An application blank and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Students should fill out their applications immediately and mail them in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight March 10, 1952.

Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Men's Glee Club Announces Plans

San Francisco State College Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Harold L. Hollingsworth and presided over by Pasha Ashrafi, is encouraging the participation of all lower classmen. Mr. Hollingsworth said, "Many fellows have good voices, but with no previous singing experience are reluctant to register for this one-unit course, Music 22, which is offered Tuesday and Thursday from 12 untol 2 p.m. in MA 201."

As always, the need is for first tenors and low basses, but anyone interested is urged to place his name and telephone number in the music department's post office box.

Generally, only one evening concert is presented, and the other programs are on campus for rallies, or before Bay Area high school assemblies.

The songs selected by the membership this semester include such popular show tunes as: "There is Nothin' Like a Dame," "I Got Plenty of Nothin'," "I'm Just a Cock-eyed Optimist," and "Drinking Song."

Other selections include Rachmaninoff's "Bells at Eventide," Dudley Buck's "On the Sea," Palestrina's "Adoramus Te," and others.

Last day to add this course without penalty of fee is Thursday, February 21.

Jr. Class Meeting Tuesday

Stan Culligan, president of the junior class, is urging all members of the class who are interested in serving on the class council to attend the next meeting, which will be held in Hut 1A at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, February 26.

Outland Defends American Foreign Policy in Speech

Educator Stresses Urgent Need For Unity in Planning America's Course

By Jerry Bowkett

Dr. George Outland, speaking on "American Foreign Policy in an Election Year" at the Spring Assembly last Monday in the First Baptist Church, paid his "disrespects to those who say we do not have a foreign policy. We do have and have always had one, despite criticism to the contrary."

Varying circumstances, Dr. Outland pointed out, necessitate continual modification of foreign policy today. It cannot be fixed and inflexible. Since the end of World War II, foreign policy has undergone almost complete metamorphosis.

Dr. Outland emphasized the inseparability of domestic and foreign policy. In the past, America's limited contact with the world at large permitted dual consideration, but today with the United States playing a leading role in global affairs, every move taken by it comes under the critical gaze of the nations of the world. "A racial squabble on the lowest level in the United States produces material for the foreign propagandists."

Determinants of foreign policy, as listed by Dr. Outland, are extensive. Geography, population, industrial development and invention, education, religion, military consideration, tradition — all have a great effect on foreign policy formulation.

"Today, security rather than peace has become the basic goal of policy, although with the coming of the atom bomb, these might very well be synonymous. In the last analysis, policy rests upon power of many kinds, military, economic, leadership, morale, unity."

Foreign policy, with a few exceptions, has not been of great significance in elections of the past. Since 1940, however, it has been a dominant and vital consideration, and as such, has become the product of political action. Political apathy and ignorance of the voting public, thus can result in an ineffective or dangerous policy which may be more in the interest of pressure groups than in the national welfare.

It becomes apparent that a cleaning of the political arena is mandatory. Villification of candidates and irresponsible, unqualified attacks on character, appeals to lowest prejudices, and other propaganda devices must be eliminated. The existence of this evil has lead to a growing public fear of speaking out on pertinent matters. Today, there is a trend to brand nonconformists, a trend which if unchecked could crush free speech and other basic liberties.

Criticism by the minority party should be along constructive, not destructive lines, Dr. Outland pointed out. A genuine bipartisan foreign policy, which would be to the best interests of the nation, "would be difficult but not impossible to attain in an election year." He cited the participation of Republicans Vandenberg and Wilkie in bipartisan policy formulation in past election years.

Dr. Outland also paid his "disrespects to those who say war is inevitable." He admitted the real possibility of war, however, but declared that its undertaking would be a crime while any means for arbitration, no matter how small, remained.

In conclusion, Dr. Outlined six points which he felt should be emphasized in any future American program: 1. Rearm, and helping others to arm; 2. Maintain a constant working relationship with our allies; 3. Maintain a readiness to talk with the Russians; 4. Strengthen, not berate the U. N.; 5. De-emphasize extreme aspects of political partisanship; 6. Strengthen our democracy here at home.

Interest Survey Set For Mid-March

Questionnaire to Show Student Preferences

Sometime during mid-March a questionnaire will be circulated on campus to all students concerning the present program of extra curricular activities and the possibility of adding new student activities to the program. The questionnaire will be primarily concerned with the problem of which activities will be best suited for the students and which activities should be increased or decreased. The results of the questionnaire will be used in developing the forthcoming budget and planning an appropriate program for the coming year.

Anyone interested in the development of the extra curricular program should submit his ideas to the student body office in Hut 4B or leave them in P. O. Box 452.

It has been shown by surveys that paticipation in extra curricular activities is an important factor for adjustment and success in life and the Student Activities Committee is interested in developing a desirable program for all students.

With the cooperation of all students in filling out the questionnaire, the Activities Committee hopes to plan a competent program to fit all the various age and social groups here at State.

Spring Enrollment Nears 5000; Closes Monday

With just five days left in which to enroll, the following enrollment figures have been released by Dean John L. Bergstresser: Total enrollment as of Saturday, February 16, was 4,824, an increase of 268 since last report.

Of the 3,753 regular students, 712 are veterans and 3,041 are non-veterans. There are 1,071 limited students (less than 6 units), including 136 veterans and 935 non-veterans.

Dean Bergstresser predicts a sharp increase in the enrollment before the final date.

Business Students' Notice!

All students in supervised work experience, Business 189 or World Business 119 should apply to the division secretary, Room 210, College hall, for a form that must be filled in at once, announced Dr. Maurice Potter yesterday.

Doyle Heads New Yearbook Class

A renewed effort to resurrect the long-defunct college yearbook, the Franciscan, is currently being undertaken by Mr. Ray Doyle, public relations director and journalism adviser.

An emergency meeting open to all students interested in yearbook staff work will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Hut 2A. Attendance at the meeting will largely determine whether or not the yearbook will become a reality next Spring. To date, a two-unit yearbook staff course has attracted only three students.

Mr. Doyle points out that a satisfactory budget allocation by the Associated Students for Spring publication of the Franciscan hinges on immediate, positive action by an enthusiastic staff.

New $100 European Tour Offered

A new low-priced, quality, non-escorted tour to Europe is now being offered by New York's "House of Travel."

The tour features 10 days in Europe for $100, which includes hotel accommodations, three daily meals, tips, land transportation, and complete sight-seeing by motor coach. In addition, there are nine itineraries, which are broken down into six or 10 days each and three of five days, covering eight European countries from which to choose. The ten-day itineraries, of which there are six, are grouped as follows: England and Scotland; Holland, Belgium and Paris; France and the Riviera; The Rhine Valley and the Low Countries (Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg); Switzerland; and Italy. The three five-day trips encompass London and its environs as one unit; Paris and vicinity; and Naples, Sorrento, Amalfi and Capri as the third.

GOOD ACCOMMODATIONS

Quality in all accommodations and facilities has been stressed, with the selection of comfortable, centrally-located hotels, the provision of three full meals every day, and standard second-class rail transportation on the Continent. There will be uniformed interpreters to meet the traveler and escort him to and from railroad stations, air terminals and hotels.

Of great appeal to the student traveler is the freedom offered in ths plan. Being an independent tour, there is no regimentation with a group.

EUROPEAN HOTELS

A partial list of hotels available includes Hotel Kenilworth, London; Hotel Parioli, Rome; Hotel Jura, Lucerne; Hotel L'Ocean, Paris; Villa Igea at Sorrento; and the Hotel Splendide, Venice.

The $100 tours will be sold to the public through over 2000 travel agents and agencies throughout the United States and Canada. Prepaid tickets, insuring reservations and covering all facilities abroad, will be issued to clients upon purchase of the tour. The tour tickets cover travel on the Continent but not the transalantic trip.

Southwood Residents Vote Against Chinese Neighbor

By Theodore E. Treutline, Professor of History.

Residents of the Southwood District of South San Francisco last Saturday voted by secret ballot their objection to the purchase of a home in their neighborhood by a Chinese family. Only 31 (or about 12 per cent) of the 253 owners eligible to vote did not mark ballots. The 216 valid votes showed an 80 per cent active opposition to the Chinese.

Thus, through an instrument of political democracy, the Southwood home owners indicated a strong majority preference for segregation. The best that can be said for this incident is that there was some discussion of the entire question, and that no violence occurred. On the latter point, it should be noted that Mr. Sheng did not report to the press that he had been threatened, though objections to his purchase of a home had led to his sporting proposal to place the question before the community.

MARCH OF TIME

The worst that can be said about the occurrence is that the Southwood people are deluding themselves into believing that old line political democracy is sufficient to meet the requirements of modern living.

In the long run our political democracy can survive only if we recognize the real meaning of liberty, equality, and fraternity, or brotherhood. The famous trilogy which stems from the American and French Revolutions is only as strong as its weakest part. Since the 1770s we have made great gains in attaining liberty and equality before the law. But brotherhood will forever be difficult to attain, though it may be approximated. Its approximation may be achieved on a very practical level of mutual regard and toleration of individuals by and for each other on the basis that such a relationship is the simplest and easiest for all concerned.

MAN'S NEEDS

There are too many of us now and we are too dependent upon each other for any other relationship to be workable.

Perhaps even property owners will learn this in time, particularly if they become aware that the presence of non-Caucasions in a community is a negligible factor of the many factors which determine property values.

Short Story Awards From Phelan Estate

The 1952 James D. Phelan awards competition was announced today by the trustees of the estate of the late senator, James D. Phelan. The awards are made available annually under the terms of a bequest to bring about a further development of native talent in California in the fields of literature and art.

Noel Sullivan of Carmel, speaking for the trustees, called attention to three awards offered to short story writers. The first award will be $500, the second award $300, and the third award $200.

Applicants for the fellowship, both men and women, must be native born citizens of California, and must be between the ages of 20 and 40. Application forms may be obtained from the office of the James D. Phelan Award in Literature and Art, 820 Phelan building, San Francisco 2.

Applicants must submit not less than two and not more than three short stories. The competition closes March 31.

A committee of experts will be appointed by the trustees to select the winning stories.

Campus Play On For Bridge Title

A small but eager group of Staters has thrown in its bid for participation in campus elimination play for the National Intercollegiate Bridge tournament. The campus crown will be determined between February 18 and midnight of February 23.

To date, the contestants' list is not up to full strength. Eight players are eligible to represent the school in play to draw the tops from this campus. The tournament finals will be held in the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago on the weekend of April 25-26. Eight geographic zones of the United States will select two pairs from each designated area. In all, 16 pairs from the nation will vie for top honors in the Windy City. The Western representatives will enjoy an all-expense paid trip to the midwestern metropolis.

Early entrants and strong contenders for the campus title are Wm. "Sid" Smith and Robert Schumaker. If paired strongly, Ted Anderson could make a good play against Smith and Schumaker. Anderson shows a definite weakness in his defensive play, but his bidding is imaginative and tricky. If he could draw a partner showing power on defense, the pair could very well go on to the Nationals in Chicago.

This marks the first year of San Francisco State's entry into the national collegiate tournament. Participants' eligibility is determined on the same basis as that of other intercollegiate activities.

All those interested should contact Miss Bunnell, tournament sponsor, at the Dean of Women's office, or Mr. Richard Glyer, the tournament director. Closing time for applications is today.

'Wise' Stater Advises Study

Being that this article is intended for students who are intelligent, but who never really put out their all in their classes, I shall assume that this shall be read by 89.9% of all "students."

How many times have you started the new semester with the feeling that this was going to be THE semester that you would get all A's, B's and maybe one, or at the most two, C's. I know what your answer will be: "Never." Ha! Who are you trying to kid? If you're anything like the honorable author of this "literary masterpiece" you have the above mentioned intentions every term.

"Ah-ha!" you explain, "but I cannot possibly be like the author of this trash for I have taken Psychology 567.4 and the instructor said that each person was an individual in himself and that no two people are alike." But in answer to your brilliant psychological exclamation I say an undignified "Umph and humbug." You darn well know that every term you intend to do better than the term before, but you never do. Now the question might be raised as to who am I to bawl you out for not doing better when I have already confessed that I am like the majority of you. Well, that's the trouble with the majority of college students. You always want to know what authority someone has to tell you anything. According to you if anybody is going to tell anything you will be the one that tells, never the one that listens. Sure is lots of telling going on in this world.

Why don't we wake up and do what we're here for and that is to learn, and in my humble opinion the way to learn is to listen and not to tell. Now don't get me wrong. I'm not saying that we're to agree to everything we hear. On the contrary, but you must first listen so you can later, usually after the hard task of thinking, disagree.

So, as was mentioned before, "wake-up." Don't think that just because you're going to college that you own the world. Did you ever stop to think how many persons in this country have college degrees and of these degree holders how many are plain every day workers such as ditch diggers, white collar workers, truck drivers, plumbers, carpenters and so forth? Stop and think.

In the long run its those grades on the transcript that mean the most to you. Often they determine just how much you're going to amount to. Renew your resolution to make better grades this term and stick to it.—A. Pardini.

State Baritone Makes Debut At Downtown Supper Club

By Marianne Perkins

Another State student advanced to the ranks of the big time last Sunday night when Angelo Rodriguez opened as featured entertainer at the Sinaloa Cantina.

Although Angelo's brilliant baritone voice has been long recognized at State as one of the best, this establishes him firmly on the professional stage. Not only is Angelo a top flight vocalist, his engaging personality, easy manner and glib ad lib ability make his performances of an unfailing quality laden with audience appeal.

WIDE REPERTOIRE

While his repertoire is wide and varied, his personal preference tends to indicate a partiality to Latin American numbers. Perhaps the fact that he is a Spanish major bears consideration.

Particularly commendable among achievements in his career thus far is his fine performance in a recent Atwater Kent contest in which he competed as a finalist in Los Angeles. He has appeared recently on a number of TV shows, and further activity in this direction looks especially likely.

TALENTED FAMILY

Vocal talent is abundant in the Rodriguez family. As all Staters may recall from Kampus Kapers and other school programs, Angelo's sister, Rosemarie, is a lyric soprano of exceptional quality. She and Angelo work together frequently in what is unanimously termed a terrific team.

Angelo's eight-week engagement at the Sinaloa is his first of such duration in San Francisco. Judging from the success he has encountered since opening night, this is just the beginning.

Gater Boxers 'Snowed In' On Way to Idaho State

It's a long journey to Pocatello, Idaho. Just ask any member of Coach Bob Troppmann's boxing squad.

Scheduled to engage the Idaho State pugilists last Saturday night, the Gators found themselves snowed in enroute to Pocatello. As a result, the matches were rescheduled for Monday night, February 18. At press time the results—if there are any—were not available.

This Friday evening the Staters journey to Reno for a match with the University of Nevada.

FIVE VETS

Farmer Optimistic Over Tennis Squad

Nothing but optimism could be heard from Coach Dan Farmer when he spoke of his 1952 tennis squad during a recent interview.

Boasting five seasoned competitors, the State racketeers have gained the necessary depth that has been lacking during previous campaigns. Led by veteran Alex Swetka, the Gator number one man, the Staters will be in top shape for such foes as Cal, Santa Clara, St. Mary's, C. O. P., and San Jose.

Among the four other athletes who have had experience in either city or state tournaments is Art Malley, also a veteran of last season's squad. The promising newcomers to the State club are Tony Stratta, Dick Axtll, and Jim White.

At present, the team is rounding into shape every Tuesday and Thursday from 12-2 on the old campus courts; practice is also scheduled for Golden Gate park. Five or six more men are needed to strengthen the junior varsity and to offer a challenge to the varsity members. Anyone interested in the sport is urged to see Mr. Farmer during the practice sessions at the old campus.

Walsh, Duggan in Finale

Horsehiders Host City College in 1952 Opener; C. O. P. Heavy Favorite in Stockton Hoop Finale

"Out with the old and in with the new"—this familiar phrase does a better than average job of summing up this week's major athletic activities for Statesiders.

On the hoop scene, the Staters travel to Stockton Friday night for the '51-'52 basketball finale against the Tigers from College of Pacific. C. O. P., which holds a previous triumph over Dan Farmer's boys, will be heavy favorites to repeat their earlier victory.

Starting today, the recreation center will be open weekly on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 12 to 2 p.m. Facilities for games of all types, including badminton, ping pong, and cards, will be available.

March 21—Menlo and Marin J. C., home.
March 29—Sacramento State.
April 5—Cal Aggies, home.
April 12—U.S.F. and Cal Poly, home.
April 19—U.S.F.
April 26—C.O.P., home.
May 3—C.O.P. Invitational, Fresno, San Jose, COP, USF, Nevada.
May 10—West Coast relays, Fresno.

After two weeks of so-called spring training, Coach Dick Boyle's horsehiders will receive their initial test of the 1952 campaign this Friday afternoon, George Washington's birthday and a day of rest for all Staters, when the Gators host City College of San Francisco on the new campus diamond.

Although minus the services of several veterans, Boyle will field a stronger and more experienced squad than the '51 nine. State's main weakness is on the mound; at present, all pitching chores have been placed on the shoulders of Ron Kasabian.

FINAL PERFORMANCES

For Johnny Walsh and Kevin Duggan the engagement will be their last in the Purple and Gold jersey. Duggan's performance Friday night will bring to a close one of the most outstanding basketball careers in State's history. Among his numerous accomplishments, the hook-shot specialist received All-American recognition last season; recently he established himself as State's all-time top scorer.

A great play-maker and passer, Walsh has been called "State's unsung hero" by Coach Farmer. His team play and spirit have been vital contributions to the squad as well as Duggan's scoring achievements.

45 ON SQUAD

With 45 athletes in the fold and a junior varsity team a certainty, the leap year contingent should be in good condition for a jump into higher class baseball here in California. The State slaate for the season includes such diamond powers as Cal, Stanford, and Santa Clara.—By Lou Arieta.

Block S Spring Officers

Howard Shinerer and Rudy Samson were elected president and vice president, respectively, at a recent meeting of the Block S. Other students elected to office by the group for the Spring semester include Harry Redlick, secretary; Frank Verducci, treasurer.

OOPS! OVERTIME

Hoopsters Edge Alameda Sailors

The Alameda NAS refused to roll over and play underdog last Friday night against Dan Farmer's Golden Gators, and nearly pulled one of the year's upsets, losing 62-64 in an overtime game at the new campus.

Although State had led the airmen throughout the first part of the game, the Gators found themselves behind 59-60 with four seconds to go, when Johnny Walsh sank a charity to put the game into an extra period.

Big Al Desin supplied the crucial bucket in the overtime by driving under the basket from the left and flipping in a lay-up that broke the deadlock and allowed the Gators to freeze the ball.

Kevin Duggan, who tied for high point honors with Manning of the NAS with 26, struck on a free throw, Manning hit for the Airmen, and Walsh racked up another free throw when the Alameda boys climbed right up his back while the Staters were stalling the ball.

Basketball observers agreed that the statuesque Manning's rebounding and tips played a decisive part in the Alameda comeback. Only about 6' 3", his head rose far above the rim of the basket as he followed shot after shot with incredible, spiking tip-ins, even when blocked out of the hole, as he was in the final period. He played under the handicap of four fouls incurred in the first quarter.

The 10-point cushion under which the Gators were relaxing seemed to evaporate in the third quarter on Manning's tips and several looping long shots. Johnny Walsh and Al Desin drew praise for their fine play.

The Gators travel to Stockton Friday night to close their season against the Bengals of C.O.P. The Bengals squeezed out a 50-44 win over State earlier this season.

Golden Gator Pool Scene Of Call-Bulletin Contest

The new campus pool, often called one of the finest on the coast, was the scene of the annual Call-Bulletin swim meet Friday night where nearly 700 boys, girls, men, and women participated.

Delia Meulenkamp, Mill Valley student, broke the 300 yard record set by Ann Curtis. She also took firsts in the 100-yard and the 220-yard free style. Jim Ross, of UC, and Phebe Cramer of Berkeley were also outstanding.

Bob Jiminez, competing for S. F. State, took a fourth place in the 100 yard freestyle.

Red Cross Offers New Nurse's Aide Training Course

The San Francisco chapter of the American Red Cross is asking for women students to volunteer as nurse's aides for defense.

A high school education or its equivalent, three written references, and a physician's statement of a recent and complete physical examination are the main requirements. The age limit is 18-55.

Training will include an intensified 80 hour course given twice weekly. Day and evening classes are available. Following the completion of the course, a minimum of 150 day hours or 100 evening hours of volunteer service is required per year. No remuneration for services may be accepted at any time.

Arrangements for a personal interview and further information may be obtained by calling Prospect 6-1500.

Social Science Classes Hear Panel

Students of Mrs. Olive Cowell's social science 40 classes presented two panels titled "America's Foreign Policy" last Friday during the regular 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. sessions of the class. Louis De Benedetti presented the Truman administration's foreign policy, and Kelly Husbands and Dorothy Lockshin explained the place of education and youth in foreign policy. Warren Gustafson spoke on the military and economic expenditures of the government.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 33...THE SHEEP

They tried to fool him with the "quick-trick" cigarette mildness tests—but he wouldn't go astray! We know as well as he there's only one fair way to test cigarette mildness. And millions of smokers agree!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Camel leads all other brands by billions
